

Georgetown University School of Medicine
Committee on Faculty Development
2010-2011

The Committee on Faculty Development is appointed by and is advisory to the Senior Associate Dean for Faculty and Academic Affairs. It is charged with developing a support system for faculty and postdoctoral trainees who participate in teaching, research and clinical activities at the Georgetown University Medical School in their efforts to achieve their individual goals. Its functions include, but are not limited to, providing assistance and consultation to faculty members, postdoctoral trainees, and department chairs in regard to the development of existing and new faculty; coordinating resources and opportunities to support the professional development of faculty members and postdoctoral trainees; to develop the process of faculty evaluation; to develop and administer a Faculty Mentoring program; and to sponsor workshops, seminars, orientation sessions and other efforts to improve the teaching and research environment.
